RELEASE For The Embassy of Australia

Did You Know?

Did you know that:

- The world's only solar-car race across an entire continent was recently run through the desert of Australia? An American car from the University of Michigan finished third.

- There's no traffic on the road from Darwin to Adelaide, where the solar-car race is run, so the cars can get up to speeds of 65 mph? One of them does it backwards for half the day, aiming its solar panels eastward in the morning, and westward in the afternoon.

- Other fascinating facts about this transport of the future and much more can be heard on a new radio program that comes to us from the land down under. RADIO AUSTRALIA IN AMERICA is a one-hour program of news and features from Australia and the Asia-Pacific region produced in Australia by Radio Australia. It covers everything from sports to technology, farm problems to chemical warfare, the Gulf Crisis to a constitutional crisis in Papua, New Guinea. RADIO AUSTRALIA IN AMERICA is being made available to National Public Radio stations across the country on a trial thirteen-week basis.

Call the National Public Radio station to find out if you can receive this program. It's also heard on the C-Span Audio Network.

RADIO AUSTRALIA IN AMERICA could give you a whole new perspective on a fascinating continent.
